S.O.2 Communications through C.

1. You are - to my great content - going to take up the question with the Foreign Office in the near future as to whether some at any rate of our more urgent telegrams can be handled by the Foreign Office.
2. This is of course only a very small portion of the problem which S.O.2 is now contending with in respect of its communications generally, with especial reference to the arbitrary supervision which C. exercises over such communications.
3. I want to be absolutely fair and dispassionate in reviewing this question and one must always remember that the inception of these communications through C. took place when D. Branch, as it was then entitled, was a small subsidiary branch of the main organisation, viz. C.
4. In these circumstances, and having regard to the conditions which quickly grew up under my predecessor, it was a wholesome and necessary check on his activities.
5. The organisation S.O.2, as it now stands, has of course grown out of all recognition as compared with the D. Section in August 1940 when I took it over, and the volume of telegrams (and incidentally their importance) has probably trebled, if not quadrupled.
6. Whilst there is no direct evidence - human nature being what it is - there is no shadow of doubt in my mind that C. telegrams take complete preference over S.O.2, notwithstanding whether the latter are marked Z, ZZ, ZZZ. At the present time it would hardly be an exaggeration to say that our telegraphic communications through C. have broken down almost completely and the average length of time it takes a telegram to reach us from the Balkans or the Middle East is about four days; if marked ZZZ we may hope to get it in twenty four hours or perhaps forty eight.
7. The main reason for this is the inadequacy of the staff of cypherers and decypherers at 54 Broadway - and in view of the many and repeated warnings which you yourself have heard me give to C. in regard to the certain increase in the volume of our telegraphic traffic, there is no doubt in my mind that they stand convicted of not having made sufficient preparation to meet eventualities.
8. There is however a great deal more to this question than the delay in telegraphic communications.

9. By means of S.O.2 telegraphic traffic coming through 54 Broadway, a type of inquisitive censorship over the whole of our actions has been set up by the C. organisation and it is not an infrequent occurrence to have our outward telegrams held up while they are discussed departmentally in C., and alternatively to have the inward delivery delayed pending similar discussion.

10. In regard to W/T sets - a so vitally important part of S.O.2 equipment now that country after country is being over-run by Germany - a dictatorial supervision is exercised by C., who take up the attitude:-

- a) that we must only obtain W/T sets through them;
- b) that we can only send these W/T sets to our men in the field through the C. men in that part of the world;
- c) that these sets are not to be put into use without the permission of C;
- d) that no other W/T sets are to be used, whatever the circumstances may be, in any part of the world, whether between overseas and England or between Stations overseas without express permission of C.

11. There are almost daily occurrences which cause recrimination and dispute between the two organisations based on all the above facts - but the underlying threat throughout all such discussions - whether amicable or otherwise - is that our communications have to go through C. and that if we do not behave ourselves they will withhold them.

12. It is of course emphasising the obvious to say that they would not succeed in any endeavour to withhold communications - nevertheless the C.S.S. himself has on more than one occasion reiterated to me that he considers himself entitled to decline to send any telegram from S.O.2 through his communications with which he does not agree.

13. My own view is that the time has come to take this whole matter up with Sir Alce Cadogan -

- a) firstly, to ascertain what volume of our communications the Foreign Office could probably handle;
- b) to endeavour to get a re-statement of the position of arbitrary supervision which C. claim they are at present entitled to exercise over S.O.2 communications.

14. I look upon C. as the "Common Carrier", so to speak, appointed by Government to carry S.O.2 communications and I deny absolutely that they have any power to exercise the arbitrary discipline to which we now have to submit if we want to get our telegrams sent or received at all.

15. It is only right that you should at this juncture refresh your memory by re-reading the Charter (to which I was a party of course) agreed between C. and D., as it then was, early last September.

16. The C.S.S. was too clever for us (prompted thereto no doubt by), for neither you nor I were sufficiently acquainted with S.O.2 matters at that juncture to realise what we were doing when we gave him the powers which he has in that Charter.

17. I feel very strongly that we should get that Charter re-charted and that we should endeavour to persuade the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs to inform the S.I.S. that it is the wish of H.M.G. that they should handle such part of S.O.2 telegraphic communications as may be desired by the latter - and which the circumstances of C. will permit - and that they should act in this matter precisely on the same basis as the Post Office acts for Government Departments and the general public. In regard to all other matters, such as W/T sets etc., S.O.2 should have a completely free hand and not be subjected to the arbitrary supervision which is so irksome to us at present; the reasons for such supervision given to us by Gambier-Parry are, I am assured by Squadron-Leader Pyle our own expert, largely staged for the benefit of the uninitiated, and except on broad general lines are neither true nor operative.

18. I suggest as the first step that perhaps you could take me with you to talk to Alec Cadogan on this matter in a personal and private sense so that we may give him the atmosphere - for looking ahead I can foresee only growing trouble in this subjection of our own people to Gambier-Parry (noted for his inaccuracy and non-adherence to the truth), who is the real trouble as Head of the C. Technical Section; presumably our traffic will increase and our general needs grow wider and wider and before very long, if present conditions continue, we shall find ourselves in an almost inextricable dilemma.

You will remember that you asked us to be in a position to give, at the meeting this afternoon, a short statement of the achievements of S.O.2 since the inception of that organisation.

We thought it would be useful to put this statement in writing and I therefore enclose five copies of the document which we have prepared. Do you think it would be possible to get copies circulated urgently to the Vice-Chiefs before the meeting? We shall of course be in a position to elaborate orally where necessary.

In confirmation of our telephone conversation of this morning, I hope you and whoever you wish to bring with you may be able to attend the meeting with the Vice Chiefs of Staff on Monday, 21st April, to discuss the points raised in Jebb's letter to Ismay No. W.1951 of the 12th April.

The Vice Chiefs of Staff have been informed of the gist of Jebb's letter and they have suggested that, to enable them to form a judgment on the questions raised in paragraph 10, it would be very helpful if they could be given a brief statement of the achievements of S.O.2. This will place them in a better position to decide on priorities.

The meeting will be at 5.30 p.m. at Great George Street, Conference Room 'B'.

Many thanks for your letter of the 15th April about communications. As soon as I got it I told Joe Hollis on the telephone that we would certainly welcome a meeting of the Vice Chiefs-of-Staff and, from our point of view, the sooner it was held the better.

I myself am going on about a week's leave tonight, but no doubt it would be possible to have it some time next week when Nelson would be available.

I hate to worry you at the present time but I think you ought to know that we are approaching a crisis in our development.

You will have seen from our plans and projects statement the various things that we want to do in Western Europe during the next three months. In addition to these various projects we shall want to drop as many "paras" as possible in the occupied areas in order to foment disaffection and generally start the rot. There is no reason for me to tell you how important the function of such "paras" is likely to be. On their activities may well depend the development of a situation which we shall ultimately put to our advantage from the military point of view.

At present we have, in various stages of training, something between 500 and 600 agents, and these will no doubt be increased as time goes on.

The short point is that few of our organisers are likely to do any good unless they are equipped with a /1 net and carefully trained in transmission and reception: this, of course, we can do, though we are encountering difficulties even here. But however many people we may drop, so equipped and so trained, will avail us nothing unless there is an organisation at this end which can take their communications in.

As you know, our wireless communications as a whole are at present carried by the S.I.B. over their could at the moment handle their traffic with fewer operators - is it not, therefore, for consideration whether they should not be ordered by the Cabinet to hand over a certain number of operators and technicians to us at once

10. It boils down to this :

(a) Do the Chiefs of Staff attach real importance to the proposed activities of S.O.E. in Western Europe ?

(b) If so, are they prepared to give S.O.E. a certain - very limited - preference over the other Service Departments ?

system; and we are now told by 'C' that he is not in a position to do any more in the way of dropping a very few organizers whom we may be able to drop abroad.

8. It is not, it appears, a question of lack of material, provided that the equipment for a new station, ordered by 'C' in America, arrives safely, and is not sunk en route. The little boat is surely in need of operators and technicians. If, in fact, 'C' is given 16 technicians and 40 operators in addition to his present staff, he will be able to carry the increased traffic which he will be able to handle. Otherwise, he will not.

I know that Lord Berkeley is at his wit's end to see enough technicians and operators for the service and that there is little, if any, hope of obtaining additional men through him. It is, I think, to the fact that he not a naturally generous man, that the needs of the service departments must be met by the S.O.F. second.

That, therefore, I would like you to do is to ask the Chiefs of Staff to give a ruling to the effect that the provision of at least 16 technicians and 40 operators to 'C' for S.O.F. purposes, is a matter of overriding importance and must be given absolute priority over everything else. I do not think that, in making this request, we are really opening our mouths very wide, seeing that, unless we get at least this number of operators, we shall not be able to function in Western Europe at all, whereas the other services, though they might go slightly short as a result, would certainly not be put a fire out of action, as we should be. Furthermore, the total number that we should require is a drop in the ocean compared to the total amount required for the other services.

9. Finally, I should like to say that we have heard from other sources that certain public communication companies such as, for instance, Cables and Wireless,

could --

11th April, 1941.

My dear Gladys,

With your letter K.1.54 of the 11th inst., you sent me a draft of a letter to Lady.

I am in agreement with the contents, except that I would like the word "new" in paragraph 5, on the first line of the second page, changed to "old", as I have repeatedly explained by letter to the Committee.

For all the good you do for me, I am informed that the Committee has decided to accept the new proposal. For this reason, the draft is only in a preliminary stage and it is possible that it will suffer some change.

Yours truly,

I send you herewith copy of a letter which I propose to write to Tama, about our communications. It should really have been typed out as a draft so to not hesitate to make any amendments that may occur to you. If, on the other hand, you think it is all right so much the better.

system; and we are now told by C that he is not in a position to do any more as it is more than 100,000 operators who will be able to drop, at once.

6. It is not, it is years, a question of lack of material, provided that the equipment for a station ordered by C, in America, arrives safely, and is not run down. The problem is not really in regard to operators and technicians. If, in fact, C is given 10 technicians and 20 operators in addition to his present staff, he will be able to carry the increased traffic which C.C.C. contemplates, otherwise, he will not.

7. I know that Lord Harewood is at his wits' end to see so enough technicians and operators for the service and that there is little, if any, hope of obtaining additional men through him. The only way is to get I think, in the end, that he not materially puts the needs of the service before those of the S.O.E. second.

8. That, therefore, I would like you to do is to see the Chief of Staff to give a ruling to the effect that the provision of at least 10 technicians and 20 operators to C, for 3 months, is a matter of overriding importance and must be given absolute priority over everything else. I do not think that, in doing this, we are really overdoing our mouths very wide, seeing that unless we get at least this number of operators, we shall not be able to function in a satisfactory manner at all, whereas the other services, though they must go slightly short as a result, would certainly not be at all likely out of action, as we should be. Furthermore, the total number that we could require is a drop in the ocean compared to the total amount required for the other services.

9. Finally, I should like to say that we have heard from our sources that certain public utility companies such as, for instance, cables, telephones, could at the moment handle their traffic with fewer operators. In fact, therefore, it seems probable that they should still be able to handle the load over a certain number of operators and technicians to do it.

could

It boils down to this :

(a) Do the Chiefs of Staff attach real importance to the proposed activities of S.O.2 in Western Europe

(b) If so, are they prepared to give S.O.2 a certain - very limited - preference over the other Service Departments?

5th April 1941

Dear C.,

Communications.

Referring to our talk of yesterday, I am attaching herewith a memorandum which - subject of course to your approval - may I think perhaps form the basis of a Joint Paper to the Chiefs of Staff.

Needless to say Gladwyn and I will be very pleased to discuss this with you again before we take the next step.

I may say that in my talk with Barber-Jarvis yesterday we reached what one might call an informal agreement, under which I understood from him that, subject always to your approval, S.O.S. people overseas should be allowed to equip their secret agents with $\sqrt{2}$ and to endeavor to arrange that such agents should communicate with wherever S.O.S. headquarters may be in the particular country concerned (or in the case of the Balkans possibly some contiguous country), provided always that we advise your people (if any) in the transmission centre and in the reception centre of the times and wavelengths etc. which we are proposing to use.

The wider question of contact in London with our agents in France, Holland, Belgium etc., I have endeavored to deal with in the attached memorandum.

Finally, in regard to what one might call routine day to day communications, we are proceeding as quickly as possible along the lines in respect of which we have agreed viz., we have already received from the Air Office the requisite number of code books and we have hopes, by accidents, that we may get them out to their respective destinations without undue delay: our people in the Balkans and Near East tell us that they can make the necessary arrangements to their end in regard to coding and ciphering: we are in process of organizing code and ciphering people to their end and of course their names will be submitted to you in due course.

It is unhappily the case these days that arrangements never go according to plan and whilst we are hopeful that so that it is arranged without undue delay, we must

I think anticipate the usual landing delays.

Yours sincerely,

S.O.2 Communications.

1. It is of course within the knowledge of the Chiefs of Staff that S.O.2 have a number of plans and projects, a weekly report on which is submitted to General Ismay.
2. S.O.2 have at present in various stages of training somewhere between 300 and 400 agents, who will be required to carry out such plans as may be finally approved by the Chiefs of Staff.
3. In practically all cases there is a vital necessity for one or more members of any crew selected to undertake a plan to be equipped with R/T apparatus and to be trained in transmission and reception of such.
4. Our Communications as a whole are carried by S.I.S. over their system and the position has now been reached where it is not possible for the number of agents which we may quite reasonably wish to employ in the near future to be adequately trained and equipped and the necessary arrangements made by S.I.S. for the transmission of their messages as and when they arrive in the countries where it is proposed that they should operate.
5. The primary difficulty responsible for this state of affairs is lack of man power - in other words Technicians and Operators are required to a number of
6. We therefore suggest to the Chiefs of Staff that the matter has now reached a stage where we must ask them to direct the relevant Governmental Authority to, for example, Public Communication Companies, such as for instance Cables and Wireless, and to acquire from them and from any other source which may be available such personnel as will enable the Communication difficulty as above outlined to be overcome. We may perhaps add that the Hankey Commission has had this difficulty submitted to them, but is unable to assist having regard to their prior instructions to repair a large shortage in W/T personnel which is at present being experienced by all three fighting services.

7. ... are not anticipating any difficulty in regard to equipment necessary for the reception of such communications - provided always that the equipment for their new station, which is at present en route somewhere on the Atlantic, arrives safely into port.

I refer you to your letter of the 21st and to the telegram from New York to Paris which you kindly got through. Please to send a reply.

The reply is contained in New York telegram of 27th of the 1st March, which has unfortunately only just reached me. As the Foreign Office advised it officially to the 1st March. This telegram starts by saying that the British Corporation have no objection to the order referred to in the out telegram. Identifying details are requested.

The second telegram refers to an order with a rather different specification. I learn, however, that there is some slight misunderstanding, and this is very probably the order in which I am interested. No further action is, therefore, required, unless you consider it necessary to send a further telegram to New York to explain this.

Many thanks for your help.

Mr. Street-Porter

I enclose a minute by Pyle about communications.

I am not at all clear whether I am expected to take any action on it, or if not, who is. Surely if it is expected that I am to act, the minute ought to have been addressed to me instead of to Pyle, whom I confess I do not even know? Could you be so very kind as to make enquiries into this?

Authority to have a considerable station of our own and

1/1038

The "re" of the 1st. ref on communication between the two stations that E has not read the letter to which it refers as a strong exception. The present message in the current letter, incidentally, is not, so far as I know, in the letter but the present dated 15th October, 1940 between "C" and "D" as to their respective functions reads as follows :-

c) Communications:

C will continue to afford to D such facilities for the use of R.I.S. cyphers and communications as the requirements and security of R.I.S. merit, but these communications will remain under the control of C. For any reason a telegram submitted by D for transmission by C be reflected by the latter. C will of course be informed in such case and will endeavour to make other arrangements."

It seems to me quite clear from this that C means to put the facilities of his communications department which are included both ordinary telegrams to our reception (two) and select communications sent directly to my agents) under his control subject only to "C's" own requirements being met and to "C's" security not being infringed. There is not in the letter a suggestion of a revision of the present arrangement of our own communications and indeed, the last phrase suggests that it will be left to do so. The only reason for this is the beginning of our own communications system was because C was quite able, at the time, to cope with our traffic and that we had no real prospect of any serious work in the eastern theatre. Very considerably, in fact, the latter, it seems, had the impression - perhaps the wrong impression - that our present organisation system of communications was quite adequate on our own would be, in practice, supplemented by our reception facilities, unless he could get authority to have a considerable station of our own, and this, should have no doubt, might well present difficulties.

Anyhow, I believe it is now a good idea to our having our own cyphers and our own cipher machines with our representatives abroad. It is our having out in the field, so to speak, our own sets and our own operators for the purpose of dealing with dissident elements in over-run countries.

It is true that, according to the strict letter of the agreement, our concurrence in this is not necessary, but I am sure that it is highly desirable seeing that, if he so wished, he is still in a position to put considerable power in our hands with the help of the licentiate. Michael is not only able but willing to put several more.

I should be glad to have your comments and those of E on the new situation which has arisen on my interpretation of the so-called "charter", as set out above.

Yours, etc.

You will remember that you were good enough to help me some time ago in connection with the valves placed in the United States. I wonder whether you could possibly do the same again? If so, I should be most grateful.

The point is that we have ordered an experimental valve from the Radio Corporation of America. The order was in the name of the Signals Development Branch. Could you possibly get your people to telegraph to New York with a view to ex-dit? The details of this valve in the same way as was the previous one. As the parcel will probably be quite small I think it that there will be no difficulty about getting it out either on the cipher or on a cipher.

Kindly suggest a telegram somewhat on the lines of the attached draft.

1. I attach a report compiled by our wireless expert, Mr. L.H., with the question of "secret wireless" requirements in C.O.2 and looking on our difficulties with C. as they now appear to stand.

2. It does not set us much further, but may perhaps clarify our views preparatory to reaching a decision when you and the C.S.S. are to fire with regard thereafter discuss, on the basis of a "first side chat", the whole of this thorny question.

3. I have invited Isorsted to make a fourth, for his influence with the C.S.S. is very great.

1. An agreement exists, designated as "The Charter", by the terms of which G.O.2 agrees to be completely dependent upon "2" for maintenance and communications. This agreement must have been made without realization of its implications. Security reasons do not permit our respective agents to meet in the field. The only way we can get communications over, therefore, is by utilizing our own agent's territory with radio equipment provided by "2" and by depending on the capacity and willingness of the XW organization to furnish for receiving facilities.

2. To be properly equipped to employ a number of agents in this manner in enemy occupied countries. We are informed that the number must be limited (a) by the capacity of the receiving station; (b) by the fact that to increase the number to any extent will constitute a menace to security and (c) that we must not expect to have special allotment to us for the purpose of being able to report "having destroyed a bridge or a train". In order to obtain a satellite set and a working schedule we have to submit our proposals to XW and they decide whether, in their opinion, the person involved is of sufficient importance to be accommodated.

3. To be able to locate and identify the agents.

4. If this is done, with a complete lack of any explanation, the likelihood of a person being located will be increased. It is therefore essential that the person involved is of sufficient importance to be accommodated.

Dear C.,

"Whispers".

Thank you for your letter C/5076 of 11th March.

In confirmation of our telephonic conversation this afternoon - I am sending a copy of your letter to Charles Ambrose with a request that he shall bring it up before the Joint Meeting of S.O.I, S.O.S and others, which is held every Saturday morning to discuss the above subject.

I know that you appreciate that S.O.S do not really come into this at all until the "whispers" have reached their destination, from which they are disseminated by means of our organisations in the various places concerned; in other words we do not manufacture the "whispers" and hitherto they have been transmitted over S.I.S. lines, so that strictly speaking this seems to be a matter really between S.O.I and S.I.S.

I hope I need hardly say that any action I can take to co-operate with you in this or any other matter will most certainly be taken.

Yours ever,

MOST SECRET

LONDON,

11th March, 1941.

My dear C/D.,

I am writing to confirm that part of our conversation of Friday which dealt with the transmission of rumours by means of S.I.S. communications.

As I explained to you, our staff at Budapest has had to be decreased; Istanbul, in addition to its own work, is acting as the receiving station for the Balkan countries, whilst the staff at Athens are overworked and likely to become more so. This makes it absolutely imperative that we should reduce W/T communications to the minimum level compatible with efficiency, and for that reason I would ask that only such whispers as are both brief and of urgent importance should be sent to us for transmission through S.I.S. lines.

I feel confident that you will co-operate with us in this respect, and that rumours not fulfilling the above requirements will be sent through other channels.

Yours ever,

C.

S.O.2 Communications through C.

1. In continuation of my CD/XX/879 of 9th March, I enclose two "exhibits" which should be used and read in conjunction with the Memorandum above referred to.
2. The first is a copy of a telegram sent by C. to their representative in Cairo, from which you will see that five wireless sets, so urgently and vitally needed by our men in Belgrade and Athens, are still not to be released without authority from XW, which is Gambier-Parry.
3. In other words we are only allowed to equip these agents of ours, who, without wishing to use exaggerated language, are gambling with death every hour of the day, unless we have the permission of Colonel Gambier-Parry, safely ensconced in a Home County, whose decision may be based upon the caprice of the moment.
4. I further enclose a telegram from Vickers, dated New York 3rd March - and as you will see received at 54 Broadway on 4th March and delivered to us to-day 11th March.
5. I am very much afraid that we must make this a frontal attack, for it is absolutely impossible to continue the work of S.O.2 if we are subjected to this complete breakdown in communications - to say nothing of the other disabilities to which we are subjected and as to which I have written you fully in my previous memorandum.
